
The Carolyn Hauer NxNW International Fund

The Carolyn Hauer NxNW International Fund is dedicated to promoting internationalism within the Association of Moving Image Archivists.

The fund has been named in honor of the late Carolyn Hauer who has been described as knowing something about every country in the world. Carolyn loved helping persons transport their curiosity, minds and souls to these locations, especially those seen as “falling off the map.” To her, the world owes much to Paris, but also a great deal to Samarkand, Lima, Reykjavik and Ulan Bator. People live rich, sometimes desperate lives in New York, Sydney and London, but also in Elko, Corfu, Kathmandu, Nanty Glo, Patagonia and Antananarivo. Indeed, the bulwark and bright spire for every individual is a different, unique place. Each tucked-away corner of the Earth intrigued Carolyn, and she hoped a tableaux of each could be maintained, firmly believing every town, province, parish and region contributes a vital strand to the complex design of the world’s historical tapestry. It is hoped that this fund will help in imbuing the audiovisual portion of this tapestry with vibrantly rich, fantastic, flowing colors and scenes.

The fund was created to award AMIA memberships to individuals and/or non-profit institutions and organizations from developing countries outside the normal reach of the Association. In addition, the fund provides financial assistance to AMIA Conference presenters from emerging nations for travel to the annual Conference.

The Caroline Hauer NxNW International Travel Grant – a grant of up to $2,500 in travel funding to a conference presenter to attend the annual conference. The grant is open to conference presenters from developing areas outside of the US.

The Caroline Hauer NxNW Membership Grants – Up to 10 individual memberships (or a combination of non-profit institutional and individual memberships) offered each year to archivists from developing areas.

Selection

Nominations are accepted for eligible organizations and individuals. Please submit the individual or organization's name, mission statement, contact information, proof of non-profit status and a brief description to AMIA explaining how the membership or subscription would assist with the mission.

Travel grants to the annual Conference. Eligible candidates must already have been confirmed as part of the conference program and must be from a developing area of the world.
